

Learning to Think Like a Mountain

The Albuquerque Department of Senior Affairs Celebrates Aldo Leopold

Examine each question in terms of what is ethically and esthetically right, as well as what is economically expedient. A thing is right when it tends to preserve the integrity, stability and beauty of the biotic community. It is wrong when it tends otherwise.

Aldo Leopold

Saturday, October 24, 2009
9:00 am–12:30 pm

- Guest Readers reading excerpts from Aldo Leopold's writings
- Music
- Representatives from Talking Talons, Sierra Club, Rio Grande Nature Center, the City Forrester, Water Conservation and DSA hiking groups
- Poetry, short stories & art inspired by Aldo Leopold's writings
- A play inspired by Thinking Like a Mountain

Manzano Mesa Multigenerational Center
501 Elizabeth SE

For more information contact Juliet Kerlin: jkerlin@cabq.gov • 291-6211
Citizen Contact Center: 311; TTY-764-6405

Mayor Martin J. Chávez

